

Research Paper Guidelines- Phase 3

Introduction:

- This should be a paragraph that introduces the reader to your topic.
- An interesting fact can be used to start this introduction, such as, "Did you know..."
- Be sure not to state too much information in the introduction. Leave your facts for your body paragraphs.
- The introduction can be vague as long as you develop your ideas in the body paragraphs.
- It must include your problem question /thesis statement (page 6).

Body: You must have AT LEAST 3 body paragraphs.

- Introduce the main point or idea of your body paragraph.
- Support that main idea with evidence or facts that you have found in your research.
- Everything that you did not already know from personal experience before writing this paper should be cited with the in-text and parenthetical citations from your research.
- Use transitions to tie each of your facts/evidence together. DO NOT JUST STATE FACT AFTER FACT!!!
- Each paragraph should end with a summarization or conclusion sentence to end the paragraph.

Conclusion:

- Your conclusion paragraph should briefly (as in one sentence each) summarize the main point of your paper and each of your body paragraphs.
- End with a statement that will make your reader either continue to think about your topic or make them feel accomplished.
 - Example: With this new information, maybe you will be able to make a healthier choice next time you are selecting a shoe style.
